A Visual Story of

KETTLE'S YARD
There are two entrances to Kettle’s Yard

This is Castle Street

This is Northampton Street
Sometimes the pavements and roads near Kettle’s Yard can be quite busy

The Castle Street Entrance has no steps

The Northampton Street Entrance has some steps
This is the way in to Kettle’s Yard

Sometimes people sit in the courtyard and have food and drink
This is the Welcome Area and Information Desk

It is sometimes busy and it can be loud
If you want to talk to a staff member you can queue up here
Bags and large coats are not allowed in the House

You can give them to our staff members at the information desk to collect later.
All of our Staff wear green lanyards

You can ask them for large print labels, tickets for the House or the Kettle’s Yard Activity Book
This is our café
You can buy hot and cold food and drink to takeaway
It often smells like food and coffee.

The café can be noisy. You might hear the coffee machine and other people talking.
This is our shop

You can buy things here at the shop till

It is usually very bright and there are lots of colours
If you visit the house a Visitor Assistant will take you in with a small group of other people.

A Visitor Assistant will welcome you inside the House – you should give them your ticket.
You will see lots of objects, furniture, paintings, sculptures and natural objects.
You can look at everything in the House

Please don’t touch any objects, art or furniture.
If you have any questions while you’re in the House you can speak to someone in a green lanyard. They are happy to talk to you.

You can view the Kettle’s Yard House tour, which shows every room in the House, online here: http://tour.kettlesyard.co.uk/
Behind the information desk are some stairs and a ramp. You can use the stairs or the ramp to visit the galleries.
There are two big galleries
You can look at the art and talk about it
The galleries have different art in them every few months. Please call us to find out what is in them now.
There are toilets on the ground floor, the second floor and downstairs in the Clore Learning Studio
You can use any toilet
There are automatic taps and paper towels to dry your hands
This is the Clore Learning Studio
Sometimes this is closed
You can use the stairs or the lift to get here
Sometimes there are art activities here
It can be noisy and busy
You can see the road and traffic out of the big windows
There is an accessible toilet and a chair in here.
The door opens inwards on a folding hinge.
To go upstairs you can use the stairs or the lift
This is our Research Space
This room looks different every few months
You can look at things and sometimes you can read books here
There is a bench on the second floor

You can sit here if you want to take a break

Sometimes there are other people here too
This is the Ede Room
Sometimes this is closed. Sometimes there is a film to watch here.
You can tell us if you liked or did not like your visit

You can leave from the same door that you came in

We would like it if you came back to see us again
